

The OHRID Institute as part of the Educational Initiative for Central and eastern Europe invite students to apply:

First Annual Law and Sovereignty Conference

Call for Applicants: First Annual Law and Sovereignty Conference

March 12 – 14, 2010

Castle Neuwaldegg, Vienna, Austria

Castle Neuwaldegg

To whom it may concern,

In an effort to stimulate further debate about law and sovereignty in the era of globalization, the OHRID Institute, Skopje invites you to the first annual Law and Sovereignty Conference, organized in cooperation with the Washington, D.C.-based Federalist Society for Law and Public Policy Studies and the Vienna, Austria-based Educational Initiative for Central and Eastern Europe (EICEE).

The OHRID Institute for Economic Strategies and International Affairs is representative from Macedonia and is part of the network of EICEE.

Taught by several eminent U.S. law professors and international law attorneys, this conference will offer current insights on, and facilitate discussions about, the importance of the rule of law, judicial restraint, limited government, the separation of powers, and national sovereignty. The Law and Sovereignty Conference will take place 12–14 March 2010 at Castle Neuwaldegg in Vienna, Austria and is open to law students from throughout Central and Eastern Europe.

For details on the conference and on how to apply please contact e-mail: info@oi.org.mk.

Thank you in advance.

OHRID Institute for Economic Strategies and International Affairs, Skopje.

